Ana Donohue is an award-winning interior designer. Since founding her namesake interior design firm Ana Donohue Interiors in 2002, her work has gained national recognition. Over the years, Donohue has meticulously perfected and honed her design sensibility and created signature living spaces that reflect each client's spirit, vision, and personal style. Ana Donohue Interiors projects range from chic urban residences and sprawling suburban homes to Bermuda bungalows and a luxurious mountaintop retreat in Park City, Utah.

Even at an early age, Donohue knew she wanted to work in the design field. After growing up in Oklahoma, where she was also educated, she lived in Manhattan for many years. Her professional journey has taken many welcomed twists and turns and included extensive world travel. Since making her home in New England, she continues to build her reputation and grow awareness of her firm. Next on her agenda is the opening of a boutique design studio in downtown Melrose, Mass., slated for the fall of 2019. The studio will feature unique art, curated furniture collections, and one-of-a-kind accessories, carefully selected by Donohue and her talented team.
